THE ANNUAL STAFF PRESENTS

THE BLUEJAY DIARY

Through this busy year there have been many exciting events we don't want to forget. Even so, with all the hustle and bustle, unforgettable moments slip away never to be remembered.

This is your own personal diary of this incredible school year.

This man has so influenced the entire scope of our school in the past fifteen years, that he will not be forgotten. Shown in the new library which he brought to reality, he counsels two students in the way which he is remembered best. It is with great admiration that the BLUEJAY staff dedicates our yearbook to Mr. E. R. Dalrymple, who has led us well.

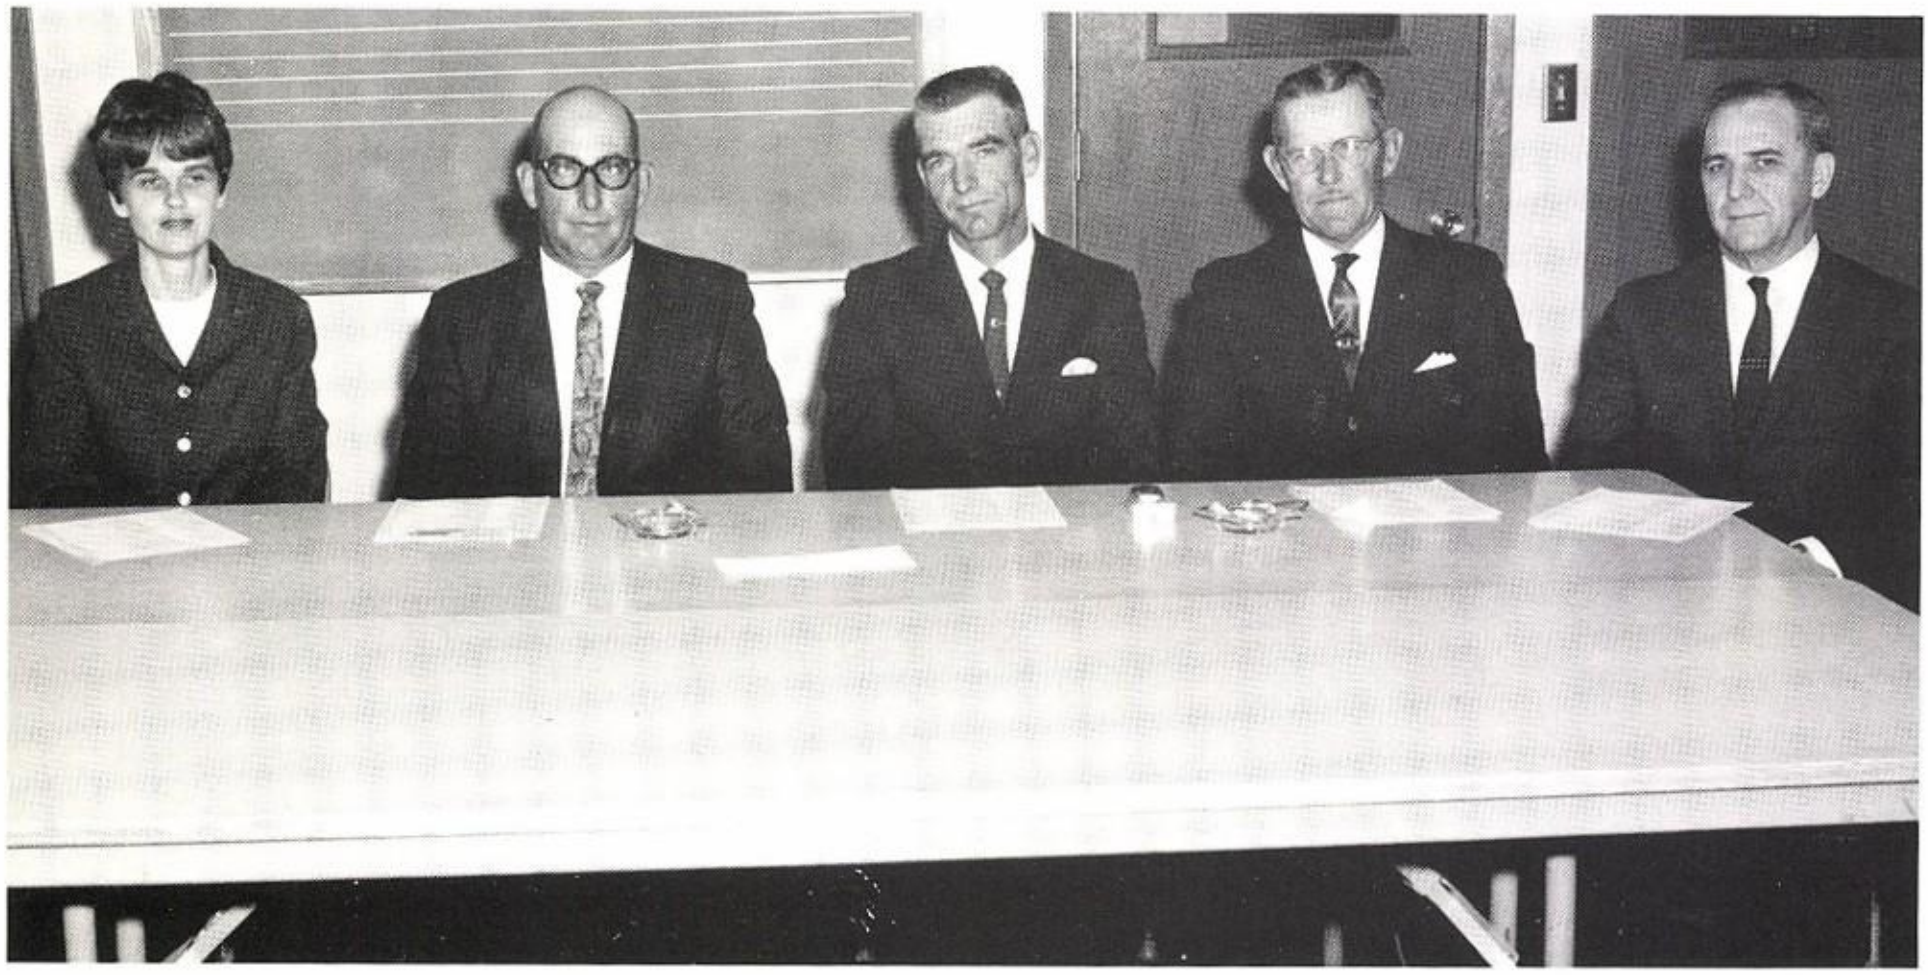
Board of Education

Mrs. Orma Lee Hunter, Secretary to the Board of Education



We, the students, are deeply indebted to our Board of Education for their interest shown in improving the educational facilities of our school during the year. They are: Mrs. Henry Copeland, Treasurer, Mr. Bill Stoner, Vice-President, Mr. Charlee Garst, Mr. Harrison Bailey, Mr. Walter Mulvania, President, and Dr. D. C. Gallup who was not available for this picture.

Teachers

Dear Diary,

This year we teachers were especially busy. Since we taught all subjects we became well acquainted with our students. During the year we participated in the basketball games and volleyball tournaments—we even won a few!

As sponsors, the juniors and seniors kept us the busiest with their plays and the juniors' concession stands, and the Prom. The seniors had their trip and organized Baccalaureate and Commencement.

The sophomores initiated the freshmen with proper supervision. The freshmen had County Government Day in which we helped them with their speeches whenever help was needed. The class meetings kept us on our toes because the students always had new and different ideas.

Then before we knew it the year was gone. We didn't accomplish all we started out to do but the interesting "off-the-subject" talks with the students made it all worthwhile.

Mrs. Deva Cox
Secretary to High School Principal

What an asset to the Rock Port school system are the secretaries and helpers. Mrs. Howell kept track of the various classes' finances and everyone looking for Mr. Dalymple. Mrs. Randall kept the playground children under control and helped the teachers check papers. Mrs. Cox put out the daily announcements plus other dexterous chores. Mrs. Hays changed from lunch tokens to plain money and then to lunch tickets and Mrs. LaHue once again checked everyone's eyes.

ROCK PORT COOKS: Mrs. Hannah Bressler, Mrs. Mary Gilbert, head cook Mrs. Loretta Fox, Mrs. Lucille Thompson, and Mrs. Lucille Klump.

The cooks here at Rock Port and Watson have done quite well this year. The menus have been keyed toward a teen-ager's appetite and the results have been greatly appreciated. For one week some students made up the menu so they found what planning for many people is like.

Waiting, waiting, waiting!

WATSON COOKS: Background, Mrs. Sylvia Clodfelter and Mrs. Joan Case.

For the first time this year, Rock Port employed women as well as men for bus drivers. Shown above are: Mr. Ed Cox, Mr. Harold Beasing, Mr. Larry Dannar, Mr. J. H. Wolf, Mrs. Jaunita Shineman, Mrs. Donna Burke, Mr. Chuck Perry, Mr. Charles Lorenz, Mr. Duane Bressler, Mr. B. W. Nauman, and standing in the doorway is head driver, Mr. Delbert Stites.

Dear Diary . . .

Very soon after school began we read "OUR BOOK" which is a huge make believe book that is almost as big as we are. In addition to this, we learned of the children in neighboring countries and how they lived. Our teachers taught us the importance of good manners and safety, always keeping in mind good citizenship. The flag, the Pledge of Allegiance, the Star Spangled Banner, and of course recess were only a few of the important things that we learned that will mean so much to us in the years ahead.

Dear Diary,

Gee, we've really had fun in the first grade. We loved to make bulletin boards and other special things. We learned to read, write, and count better. We can't wait to become second graders so we can learn much more. Well, Diary, we had better say good-by for now but we'll be seeing you next year.

During the noon hour a few of the girls studied while others preferred attention from the boys.

Dear Diary . . .

It seems as each year passes we learn more about our state and country. This year our teachers thought of new ways to make learning more fun. As the year progressed we elected class officers and they conducted class meetings. The highlights of the year were the Christmas and Valentine parties. This year we realized more and more how much an education means to us and each day we strive to achieve more knowledge.

As a science project, we studied white mice. Looks as if it's feeding time.

Dear Diary,

Each school day we rode the bus to Langdon where we have our classrooms. We liked having the usual birthday parties and decorating for special days. Our social studies class taught us about living conditions in different types of climates and the effect weather has on people. We also studied the history of our state and as fourth graders, we were introduced for the first time to long division.

As fourth graders, we were inquisitive!

Dear Diary,

We had a lot of fun in the fifth grade this year. Most of us considered science as our favorite subject. We studied microscopic life and grew mold on bread.

In health we studied all about the human body. We feel that we know all about fractions now, after all of the work we had in math. We are looking forward to sixth grade next year and then junior high, but we will always remember our fifth grade days.

Dear Diary,

It's been a long, but rewarding six years for all of us. We've been working quite hard to prepare for our Junior High years that are just a step away. Our sixth grade year has been a fun one, that we can look back on with much pleasure and enjoyment. Well, goodbye for now, Diary.

Junior High - Eighth

Dear Diary,

The most important event to us was the first day of school when we moved into our own building at Watson. We had our own football games, basketball games and parties. This was the first year for girls' basketball. We organized a student council and had representatives from both classes. We shined and polished the building, and ourselves, when we had open house in November for the community. In February we had a fun day. Because of the extra room, we were able to have more activities, and we think this has been the best year we have had.

Bluejay Marchers

Dear Diary:

The band did a great job for RPHS this year. During football season, they marched in parades and performed half time shows. At the NWMA Homecoming our Bluejay marchers won a second place trophy. The concert band performed concerts before the public. They were unable to attend District Music Contest at Maryville because the distribution of instruments was unbalanced within the band. Even though the band was very small this year, it was mighty!

Senior Play

"Pillow Talk"

Dear Diary,

We Seniors spent countless hours practicing and went through times of frustration, happiness, aggravation, and fun in preparing for our play. We realized that it would be our last student production and we wanted it to be the very best.

All our efforts proved beneficial, because our play was a success. It was one that we could look back on with pleasure and contentment. We must admit, that our success was due to the direction of Mrs. Jackie Henningsen.

"What IS it?"

"I bet that took a lot of subscriptions!"

"Howdy! Podnuh!"

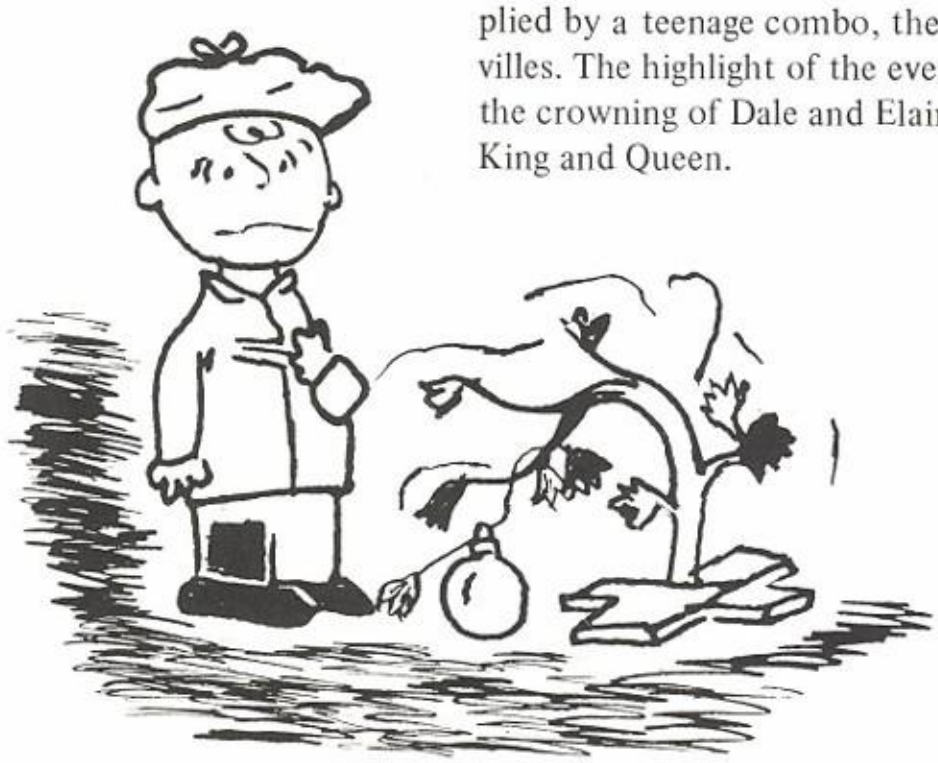
A Charlie Brown

The theme of our Christmas Ball this year was "Charlie Brown's Christmas." The cafeteria was decorated with murals depicting the various "Peanuts" characters. Music for dancing was supplied by a teenage combo, the Bonnevilles. The highlight of the evening was the crowning of Dale and Elaine, our King and Queen.



We talked and danced all night.

Everyone attended the dance, even if they had to come on crutches.

George, Stu, Dan and Steve entertained us with their songs during the intermission.

Junior-Senior Prom

"In The Beginning"

Dear Diary,

Held in God's hands, the garden of Eden, amid flowering trees and shrubs, a bubbling fountain with live fish and a multicolored rainbow was the setting for our spring finale, April 20. Twelve sophomores served the banquet that was catered and music for dancing was furnished by "The Sound Revolution". The juniors displayed their usual artistic talent with wall murals which made this prom one of our most spectular. It was a wonderful night with many lasting memories.

Student Council

This year the student council was placed in the capable hands of James Fentiman, at left. They planned and presented the psychedelic homecoming and the Charlie Brown Christmas Ball. Careful organization was incorporated into the new school constitution and handbook which will be used next year. Through the student council, our school has benefited from newly organized programs at other schools, and has also enjoyed the delights of exchange assemblies. The school and its activities were spotlighted by the council during the fall open house, and the student body was familiarized to the council's duties during an open meeting before the students. A very important event sponsored by the student council was the presidential election. Below, Gene Kirk, our new president, delivers his campaign address.

Projects

The vigorous school spirit enjoyed this year was boosted by our student council, which organized the massive pep rally the day of homecoming, held on Rock Port's classical brick Main Street. Football homecoming was a very successful venture even though it was held during a cloudburst and on more of a lake than a football field. Student council resourcefulness made the best of the situation and held coronation in the gymnasium.

Basketball Homecoming was a delightful break during the winter term, and the lunch cafeteria afforded a fine atmosphere for students and teachers to unwind. At right, Coach and Mrs. Hagan get into the swing of things with King George and Queen Diane. The stop-action light created a great effect for mod dancers and turned just about everybody on.

The student council highlight this year was the "Charlie Brown Christmas." Below, Mr. Dalrymple, a good friend of the council, escorts Allan and Gloria into the ball. The now ideas of the leading body in our school really made this a year to remember!

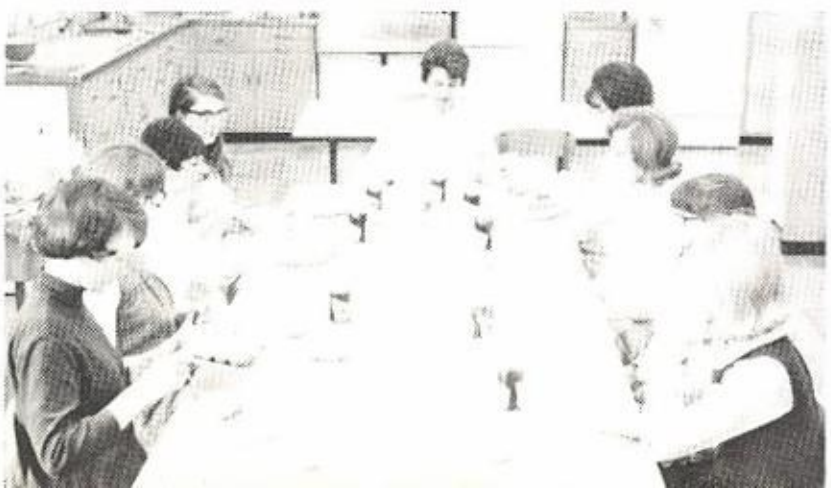
The F.H.A. girls get together for a picnic and group singing as a prelude to the year's activities at school.

The officers are shown after the initiation of new F.H.A. members. The procedure proved to be great fun.

F.H.A. is very enjoyable as well as educational. At left, Cristy enjoys the simple joys of maidenhood at the fall picnic. Below, the class is participating in table etiquette while enjoying a dinner they prepared themselves. As a whole, the class did quite well and accomplished much skill in the fields of homemaking.



Retaining the mischievous gleam from informal initiation activities, Barbara is awarded her membership pin from the F.H.A. president, Susan.

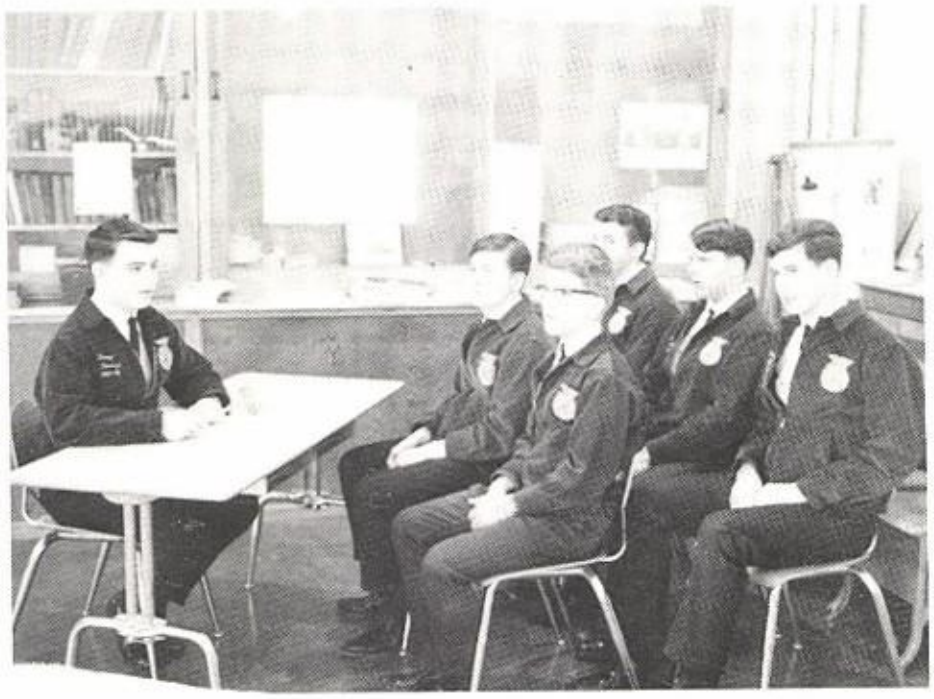
FFA



F.F.A. activities were many and varied, ranging from the Parliamentary Proceedure Team, above, to the barnwarming dance, below, with King Danny and Queen Linda and attendants.

Work in the shop as well as work on the farm paid off in increased understanding of farm equipment and management as well as cash awards for supervised farming to Floyd and Larry.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Honor Society

ABOVE: The Honor Society group together in the music room. The officers in the first row are Linda Martin, president; Mike Deatz, vice-president; Sally Fay, secretary; and Cathy Herron, treasurer. The girls in the second row are Kathleen Miller, Mary Jean Fox, Kathy Struthers, Jacque Gayle Reid, Terry Theisfeld, Diane Meyerkorth, Marlene Sands, Nancy Sweeton, and Judy Rosenbohm. The fellows in the back row are Pat Bell, David Stasny, Steve Hutsell, Mr. Curt Gaffney, the honorary sponsor; Gary Grubb, Steve Gilbert, and Dale Anders. At left, the newly chosen members are shown in front of the school after the fall "tapping" ceremony. At lower left, the new members are initiated at the candle-lighting service. The banquet for the new members featured Dr. Ford, of Elmo, Missouri, who is a hypnotist. The society took in CAMELOT during a trip to Omaha. Three important projects carried out by the club were a teacher assistance program, the spring book fair, and a valuable college corner for the seniors. This year, the Honor Society initiated many club activities which have set the pace for the years to come.

OFFICERS: Kathy Struthers, treasurer; Judy Husing, Vice-president; Lola Harmon, student council representative. SEATED: Kathy Brought, president; Sheri Burke, secretary.

Publications

Working knee-deep in pictures.

The Publications class worked very hard. We learned how to keep a weekly paper going and at the same time, work on the annual. We accumulated new knowledge in journalism and thanks to Mrs. Fay, we learned the intricacies of making layouts for our annual. We worked after school and at night, trying to keep on schedule for both the paper and the annual.

Thinking, always thinking!

The Editors Four!

These people were perhaps the busiest people of the entire Publications class. Poor Doc was constantly interrupted from his work so he could take a picture for someone else. What a job! The editors were, along with Mrs. Fay, the guiding influence for everyone. These people are special people, with a will to work and accomplish something constructive.

Our beloved photographer.

Chili supper and Fun night

Dear Diary,

To become a member of R Club means many hours of fun as well as hard work on the football field, basketball court and track. We who lettered were privileged to be a part of this group. We have fond memories of the conference games, the tournaments and track meets. Our other activities included initiation of new members, a fund raising chili supper and fun night, our R Club banquet when we received gold footballs for the conference championship and the athletic banquet in the spring when we were honored by the pep club. All of these things add up to a super year—long to be remembered.

For the second time in as many years the Rock Port Bluejay football squad took top honors in the 275 conference. This was a year that will be remembered by all of the people that were on the squad as well as the people whose only chance for the participation lay in watching their sons out there on the field. Games that will stand out in peoples minds will be the homecoming with all its water and mud, and certainly no one will forget the Tarkio game with them favored by three touchdowns, but the final score told the whole truth, 40-7 in favor of old RPHS. Yes sir, it was a grand year for the blue and the white.

Bonfire the night before.

A friendly gesture.

The wettest, drippiest, muddiest homecoming of all times climaxed by a smashing victory over the South Holt Knights, was a game long to be remembered by both players and spectators.

Adding the final touch.

Track

Our Bluejay Track Team was a great ambassador to other towns with their great sportsmanship and keen desire for good competition. We can be sure that each of the boys considered this year one to remember.

The boys are especially indebted to their coaches for their experience and unswerving faith in the team. To Coach Carl Henningsen we give a great big "thank you"! Another thanks to the citizens of Rock Port for their support at home and away and for all the cooperation that was given when help was needed for the Bluejay Relays. Broken records, high scores, meets won, tough competition—all in all it was a great year.

Dear Diary,

We Juniors finally got a taste of being upper classmen. We worked long hours making notebooks, projects, plus writing a term paper. With all of these, regular assignments kept piling up. With the football season came our first business venture—the Junior stand. What a lot of work, but thanks to our sponsors, Mrs. Henningsen, Mr. and Mrs. Shaw, and Mr. Danner, things ran smoothly.
